Man charged in cheque fraud

Five charges of false pretences have been laid against a Barrie man after a series of cheques were presented to local merchants during August and September. The cheques were valued at $147.

Charged is 30 year old Jack Gosselin of Barrie. He will appear in Provincial Court November 26 to answer the charges.

The matter was investigated by Constable Ken Wesley.

two doors to jam shut, however the driver was able to scramble out of the door on the opposite side of the vehicle. Greenwood sustained a minor scrape to his forehead in the mishap and credited the fact he was wearing a seatbelt with having avoided further injury.

No charges have been laid. The matter was investigated by Constable Gary Chapman.

Break-in

A cottage on Contau Lake was the target of thieves recently. The break-in was reported to police October 11 by the owner of the property Bill Hoffman of Port Colborne.

Taken in the incident was a 9.9 h.p. outboard motor, binoculars, a guitar, fish tackle box and other items valued at $1,675.

The matter is being investigated by Constable Al Bibby.

ATC flips

A 26 year old ATC driver was taken to hospital following an accident October 13 at a gravel pit near Minden.

Off bridge

A Minden man escaped with only a minor cut after the vehicle he was driving cut through the guard rail on the Maple Lake bridge in Stanhope Township and landed upside-down at the bottom of a ten foot drop.

John Greenwood, a reporter for The Times, was returning from an assignment at the Lochaven Inn Wednesday evening when the mishap occurred. It had been raining heavily when the man lost control of the vehicle on the slippery roadway and it crashed through the barrier.

The car, a 1975 Bel Air, landed close to the water's edge on its roof. The impact caused one of the Safe homes are next for program

Since she opened Haliburton County's first branch of the Family Violence Safety Network last June, Jude King says she's had an excellent response from the community. "People realize violence against women is a problem in our society," King says, "and they believe something should be done about it."

The purpose of the Haliburton centre is to provide support - everything from counselling to shelter and legal aid - to women who have been battered by their husbands or boyfriends. Anyone wishing to get in touch with King can reach her by calling 457-3355 or by dropping into her new office in the old Hospitality Training Centre building across from CHACE Place on Highway 118.

King is adamant there is a need for a stronger Family Violence Network in the county. Out of a total population of 10,000 people, her organization believes there are 300 battered women. Which works out to a ratio of about one in ten.

To expand Violence Safety Network services in Haliburton, King has already started on a project

Jude King is looking for volunteers to assist in establishing a safe home program for victims of family violence. A counselling service is already in place for those in need.

Company seeks hangar, office space

Intending to carry on his business into the winter, the owner of Spectra Aviation has asked Stanhope council for hangar and office space at the municipality's airport.

Steve Wilcox told the October 8 council meeting that the tourist trade, on which Spectra is largely dependent, will be strong enough this winter to keep both his company's planes in the air.

At present the Haliburton based business used Head Lake as a take-off and landing place for its planes.

Wilcox explained that he wants to follow the lead of a number of Georgian Bay aviation companies.

"Some Georgian Bay resorts promote themselves as much as 60 percent through the municipal airport," he said. "The result of this co-operation is a strong year round tourist trade that benefits everyone."

Wilcox's intention, apparently, is to provide air service for winter resort customers in Haliburton County.

No response to the request was offered, although the council has agreed to consider the matter.

to set up a series of safe homes. These, she explains, are homes run by volunteers where women escaping from violent relationships can get shelter, counselling, and food for up to three days.

Toward starting the safe homes, King has begun a fund drive to buy or rent buildings and has also started a series of six week training programs for volunteer safe home operators and counsellors. The first program has already ended but another is scheduled to commence around the beginning of November and King would like to encourage anyone who is interested to come out. The classes run for two and a half hours once a week.

Participants learn how to run a safe home and give counsel and they're also given information on volunteer driving, effective public speaking and the problem of violence against women in our society.

Acid rain report

The following report on precipitation at the Ministry of Environment testing station in Dorset, was compiled by Environment Canada. There were three precipitation events during the past week.

- on October 5, 7 mm of rain fell with a pH of 5. The rain was traced from northern Wisconsin, northern Michigan and Lake Huron.

- on October 7, one mm of rain fell with a pH reading of 4.3. The rain was traced from northern Indiana, southern Michigan and southern Ontario.

- on October 8, 2 mm of rain was recorded at Dorset with a pH of 4.3. The rain was traced from northern Indiana, Ohio and southern Ontario.

Environmental damage is usually observed in sensitive areas regularly receiving precipitation with a pH of less than 4.7. Readings of 4.0 or less are considered dangerous to the environment. The lower the pH reading, the more acidic the precipitation.

Paintings trick the casual observer

by John Greenwood

What strikes you most about Chuck Burns' watercolours (on exhibition at Minden's Agnes Jamieson Gallery until October 31) are the vibrant colours. They aren't necessarily bright - though they often are - but the contrasts Burns sets up between light and dark and warm and cold give the paintings an energy you don't often find.

A native of Victoria County for the past ten years, the 35 year old artist paints the people and things he sees around his Bobcaygeon homestead. For example: a school bus stopping to pick up children; a pony resting its head on a fence; five crows flying over a newly plowed field; and, strangely, a block and tackle hanging in a barn.

"I'm depicting the way of life in Bobcaygeon," explains Burns. "My subjects are all rural things, things that remind me of where I live." And, as he says, it all fits together as part of one man's collection of personal images.

Some are puzzling, like the block and tackle, and you might well wonder why Burns chose to paint it. Yes, he admits, it's just a few bits of rope and a couple of pulleys, "but there's all sorts of ominous connotations." And, in truth, the picture does invite you to speculate.

"People miss an awful lot when they walk around old buildings," says Burns. "They never look about themselves to see what's there."

So when he paints he chooses familiar things as subjects, but seen from curious, oblique angles and often casting sharp shadows. In this way, he gives back to everyday life some of the significance that's lost to repetition and familiarity.

Being an artist was never something Burns had to agonize over. "I've always known I was going to be a painter somewhere along the line. After my diploma in advertising art, I could have been a successful graphic designer - but I chose this instead."

"I realized that I couldn't be both, that I couldn't illustrate someone else's ideas - which is what a graphic designer does - and be true to my own." So he took the jump and hasn't looked back.

"There are plenty of graphic designers," says Burns, "who have the talent to be artists, but if they're in that business, then they're practical people. They realize the value of a steady pay cheque."

"Whereas, I'm an incurable romantic. I want to show people the things they're missing. That's also why I paint in bright, gutsy tones. I like paintings that look like you can walk right in, I want people to feel the three dimensions."

To this end as well, Burns paints in a realistic style. In fact, you could even call it super-realism but for the presence of warm colours and a perspective that is usually less than clinical. "As soon as you break away from realism," says Burns, "You lose the majority of your audience."

Though his style is refined

Burns doesn't concentrate on technique. Too much attention in this direction, he says, leaves a painting laboured and overworked. His pictures have "only the illusion of detail." At a glance, each one seems a testament to concentration and technique.

But take a closer look, and you can see that, as he says, it's a trick. In the painting of the school bus for instance, important details have been drawn in - the writing and lights on the back of the bus and the power lines at the side of the road. But the children, the field, and the rest of the landscape are just sketched in. And the eye is left with the impression of detail, fooled into seeing more than is there.

"But that's the way we see" explains Burns. "You never take in everything at once; you focus on a particular subject."

This theory has taken the youthful artist a long way. Since he first started to paint professionally in his early 20's, Burns' career has gone steadily upwards. He's taken part in exhibitions all over Ontario and over the years has accumulated a formidable rack of awards.

Not that his daily routine has changed much. He still goes out regularly for walks in the countryside around his home and recently he's also opened his own gallery and begun to do teaching stints.

For the future, Burns hopes to continue in much the same way. His efforts now, he says, will be toward reaching a wider audience. "I'd like to do more shows and I'm thinking about getting into limited editions." The idea is to communicate through his art with as many people as possible. "After all," he says, "that's the name of the game."

Chuck Burns was at the Agnes Jamieson Gallery in Minden on Saturday for the opening of his exhibition of watercolours.

Step forward

How quickly our community would grind to a halt without their active participation. Rapidly, services which many have come to rely on, to even take for granted, would cease to exist leaving a gaping void in the fabric of our community.

We are referring to the invaluable contribution made in all aspects of our life by the volunteer. Serving in a wide variety of roles from a coach behind the bench to a friendly, reassuring voice on the phone, the volunteer makes life more enjoyable, secure, entertaining and meaningful for those who use their services.

We salute the volunteer. The dedicated individual who willingly offers his or her time, freely and without thought of compensation, in the service of others. Often unsung, but rarely unappreciated, the volunteer finds his reward in the satisfaction of serving others.

Autumn usually signals a time when organizations regroup for another year of service. It is an ideal time to become involved in a community service that fills a need and matches your own interests. Be a part of your community.....be a volunteer.

Speak out

In addition to supplying readers with news of events and activities taking place in the area, this newspaper also provides a forum for community opinion through our letters to the editor column.

The letters column, one of the best read sections of the newspaper, is open to all readers for expressing opinions on matters of local interest. In encouraging readers to make use of this service, we would advise that letters which are not too lengthy, come to a point clearly and quickly, draw the greatest readership. All letters to the editor must be signed with information provided so we can authenticate authorship, and writers should be aware that their names will appear with the letter.

From time to time, a number of people in the Counties of Victoria and Haliburton have conveyed their thoughts to me with regard to regulations relating to the consumption and distribution of alcohol in the Province of Ontario.

I am pleased to advise you that the Ministry of Consumer and Commercial Relations has established an Ontario Advisory Committee on liquor regulations and has begun its eighteen city tour in order to receive public input on existing regulations.

I am writing to inform you that the committee's hearings closest to our Counties will be held at the County Council chambers, 470 Water Street, Peterborough on October 20, 1986.

Public hearings will commence precisely at 9:00 a.m. until 12 noon and from 1:00 to 2:00 p.m. and two hearings have been set aside from 3:00 to 5:00 for individuals to "walk in off the street" to address the committee with their views.

October 16 is World Food Day; an opportunity for all to reflect on the importance of dealing with the issues of global hunger and food problems. The Ontario World Food Day Co-ordinating Committee is a coalition of voluntary and private sector organizations, government agencies, businesses and individuals.

World Food Day is commemorated in 147 countries and honours the founding of the United Nations Food and Agriculture Organization (F.A.O.) in Quebec City in 1945.

1986 being the International Year of Peace, the Ontario World Food Day Co-ordinating Committee wishes to stress the importance of solving world food problems to achieving a more peaceful international community. The theme for this year's World Food Day is Food, Water and Fisheries.

Each year the world's fresh water supply is depleted due to increased usage and desertification. This has raised the issue of how to create new supplies, including research into desalination of ocean water and more efficient ways to store and transport fresh water. As well, the continued depletion of the earth's fisheries creates new problems for the large proportion of the population dependent on fishing for survival. It is imperative that these problems be addressed in the near future.

There is no single simple solution to the world hunger problem. However, through increased awareness and efforts to address the situation, it is still possible for the world to feed itself. We have the technology; the capabilities are there. The developed world needs to take a more active role in the problem; our international survival depends on it. World Food Day on October 16 will bring these issues into focus; a solution to world hunger can be found.

Premier visits Japan

- by John Eakins, MPP -

During the early part of this month, a number of news stories dealt with the visit of Premier David Peterson to countries in the Asia Pacific Region such as Japan, China and Korea.

The Premier visited these countries along with Ontario business leaders to strengthen the bonds between Ontario and these countries. I believe all residents in Ontario stand to benefit from an increase in exports to the huge markets of the Asia Pacific Rim nations and through investment in Canada by Pacific Rim nations, particularly Japan.

Describing Ontario as a trading province in a trading nation, Premier Peterson said our economic future depends on our ability to sell our goods and services in an expanding and fiercely competitive global market. Increasing our imports and exports with the countries of the Asia Pacific region will benefit all Ontarians through a stronger and more diversified economy.

As an example, a meeting in Tokyo between Premier Peterson and Dr. Toyoda, president of the Toyota Motor Corporation produced an agreement that will see the Japanese automaker spend up to $120 million a year on Canadian made parts for its new Cambridge plant by the mid 1990's.

There are many benefits for Ontario in relations with these countries. I have been fortunate to have visited Japan as the Mayor of Lindsay and as the Minister of Tourism and Recreation. While Mayor of Lindsay, a group of dedicated individuals initiated a plan to twin the Town of Lindsay with the City of Nayoro in Japan. This twinning has brought a great deal of friendship and understanding between not only Lindsay and Nayoro, but between the peoples of Canada and Japan.

While the Premier was visiting Japan, a group of business leaders from Japan were visiting southern Ontario including Victoria County, where a special tree was planted in Nayoro Park in Lindsay. In Nayoro, hundreds of maple trees have been planted to foster the twinning of the two communities.

The planting of trees may seem symbolic, but it represents the friendship that has developed over the years, a friendship, I believe, has been very rewarding to the citizens of both countries.

Property rights are concern for board

As usual, the Haliburton County Real Estate Board annual dinner last Wednesday was a festive and pleasant occasion.

45 guests enjoyed drinks and dinner at the Lochaven Inn and listened to speeches at the end by Highlands historian, Leopoldina Dobrzensky and Dysart councillor Glen Hodgson. The theme of the evening was private property.

Dobrzensky, who was born in Czechoslovakia had property seized during the second World War, both by the Germans and the Soviets. The right of private citizens to own and protect their property should be enshrined in the constitution, she said.

own property is enshrined in their Bill of Rights, Dobrzensky argued. "Why not in Canada?"

The effects of this might not be apparent at the moment, but they will be to our children, she said. "Your children," she explained, "may not be able to reap what you have sown."

Dobrzensky also urged her audience to protect their heritage. "Most Canadians," she said, "live in urbanized, inhuman places. As a result, their lives are hopeless and barren."

That's why in the 1980's, she said, everyone is trying to buy a place in the country to get closer to their roots. "Heritage now is good business," she contended.

But if we don't work now to protect what we've got, Dobrzensky concluded, our heritage and rights will erode "like snow in the wind."

Glen Hodgson also seemed to be pro-heritage in his speech. "The lumber business made the county," he said, "and the old projects are part of you."

But now with real estate prices so high, he argued, you've got to ask, do you own property or does it own you?"

He then rebuked some real estate company employees for selling property without first determining the zoning and lamented some real estate salesmen work so hard, they have no time for community activities.

Leo Dobrzensky spoke at the Haliburton District Real Estate Board annual meeting held Wednesday at Lochaven Inn.

Anchorage will be required in 1989 autos

- by Bill Scott, MP -

On October 8 John C. Crosbie, Minister of Transport, announced that vehicle manufacturers will be required to provide rear tether anchorages for child car seats, effective in January, 1989.

This regulation addresses the public's concern about the difficulties of installing a tether anchorage in a car. It is one of the public's main concerns about proper use of car seat restraints.

Transport Canada surveys have confirmed that an unanchored tether strap is the major cause of improper child car seat installation. The presence of a visible and convenient anchorage will ensure that the public will use the tether strap, which holds a child car seat securely in place.

Manufacturers will have the option of installing the anchorage hardware, providing it with the vehicle or making it available to the customer. The anchorage can be a plain hole, a threaded hole, or a combination hardware anchorage.

Some vehicle manufacturers already offer anchorages as standard equipment on their cars.

Transport Canada is publishing a brochure that lists new cars sold with tether anchorages. Brochures may be requested by writing to Road Safety and Motor Vehicle Regulation, Transport Canada, Ottawa, K1A 0N5, or by phoning (613) 998-1979.

The case of the missing letter

"No more 'F' words!"

The cry went up through The Times office last Tuesday evening. It was obvious by the tone of the admonition that this was an order not to be ignored.

To an outside observer, the clarion call might have represented a renewal of this newspaper's policy of good taste by avoiding the use of certain words deemed unacceptable in polite society. (We know where the minds of these 'outside observers' can be found!) However, such was not the case.

Tuesday last, at just before 5 p.m., the 'f' key on the typesetter ceased to function. It simply stopped responding to the gentle caress of our typist's fingers, and was equally obstinate when I attempted to persuade it back to life with a series of karate-force blows with my finger to its upturned face. The 'f' was gone (although it did return for a few brief minutes later the same evening like a fickle mistress, but then disappeared as fleetingly as it came), gone, but need I say, not forgotten.

The normal procedure would be to rush the ailing keyboard to the manufacturer's plant in Scarborough, where about ten minutes work with a soldering iron would have set it right. However, the plant was now closed, it being after 5 p.m. and their help would not be available again until 8:30 the next morning, the precise time the first readers of this weekly journal should be picking up their copy, hot off the proverbial press.

Better than three quarters of the editorial copy and all the advertising copy had been typed. A number of key elements, including the editorial, headlines and photo cut lines, plus some articles needed to be typed. We considered a number of options. All the 'fs' could be replaced with 'ph', however apther carephull consideration, we phelt it would be too conphusing to the readers, although it created an interesting look phor phamiliar words. Also rejected, was using 'gh' as the 'f' sound is created in the word 'enough'. One look at the following sentence provides ample evidence why this option was by passed. "Ghor close to ghighty years, Ghred Grighghin had played the ghiddle at the annual ghall ghair." Enouff, eniouff, already!!

The decision was made to try and ger by without the little letter 'f', which created an interesting challenge.

jack's world

by editor & publisher Jack Brezina

'F' is certainly not the most used letter in the alphabet, but it does hold the key to a number of heavily used words, notably the prepositions 'of' 'for' and 'after'. (We were able to "cut and paste" a number of these words and names from previous editions of The Times, however, had we relied solely on this source for the paper, the staff would still be putting last week's newspaper together.)

So we attacked the articles yet to be typed, excising every 'f' in sight. In some cases, it was as easy as eliminating excessive words, such as the

"off" in kick-off (football story), but in others, whole sentences and paragraphs had to be re-written to accommodate our 'f'-less condition. You'll note, for example, that the Stanhope Fly-In Breakfast became a brunch and the term "fly-in" was only used once, at the beginning of the story when it appeared with a capital 'F', easily created by eliminating the bottom extension of a capital 'E'.

One of the biggest challenges came in writing an editorial without the services of the 'f' key. It was a difficult task to say the least. Every attempt to put words to paper seemed to come to a halt whenever an 'f' was encountered. Finally, I decided to ignore the embargo, to at least get my thoughts down, then went at it again to eliminate the offending beast. The result, as I read it today, is somewhat stilted and lacking in flow, but not unacceptable...the 'f'-less editorial.

The paper was finally put to bed and appeared the next morning, as usual. The absence of 'fs' in some articles and headlines is not the sort of thing most people would recognize, and for the staff at The Times, it presented an interesting challenge. Not that we'd like to face the problem on a more regular basis.

So, if you still have a copy of last week's newspaper handy, check it out. You'll find it a little light on the 'f' words.

(Articles written under the above conditions include: Co-operative education (pages one and five), Police report (page 3), Editorial (page 4) Redmen football (page 9) Stanhope fly-in (page 12) among others.)

Local libraries have reach

by Joel Levis
County Librarian

With library week rapidly coming up, we thought you might like to learn a bit more about what libraries are doing for you in a number of very important areas.

When most people hear the word 'library' they almost invariably think of 'books'. So let's talk a bit about 'books'.

Despite what you hear on the radio and TV - they are hardly going to promote the competition any more than they have to - people are reading more and more. Perhaps that is why increasingly there are many new books available for children, young people and adults in English, French or any one of umpteen languages. There are large print books for people whose eyes aren't what they used to be and even talking books for people who are virtually blind.

There are fiction books calculated to fill leisure moments with excitement and challenges beyond the humdrum of daily life. There are books to help us cook, garden, fix the car and renovate the house. There are books to help us in our work and in play. Books for the mind and books for the heart. All kinds of books for all kinds of people with all kinds of needs.

The Haliburton County

Public Library has lots of books, about 30,000 in number. But no matter how many books we have in our library, we can't meet all the book needs of the people of our community without some help from a larger community, each of our ten libraries being branches of the Haliburton County Public Library.

In this area, we also require the back-up services of OLS-Trent which is funded by the Ministry of Citizenship and Culture and covers a large chunk of central Ontario. It provides these very valuable services to some 92 library boards, a population of more than 1,000,000 people.

Trent helps to link these libraries and these people through a computer which links many of the libraries in a vast network in the area.

Some libraries are simply too small to be "on-line" as they say, and they can access the computer through the OLS-Trent Barrie office.

While this is fascinating in itself, what we really want to say is that the ten branches of the Haliburton County Public Library are active members of this network and are part of a family with a total collection of over 3,000,000 books. And if the book isn't available through the Trent computer network, then the OLS-Trent staff search for it in other Ontario libraries ...and beyond.

Last year, we borrowed materials from as far away as Newfoundland and British Columbia although we can get them from anywhere in the world if your need is valid.

Incidentally, one of the most unusual requests was for a book on Tibetan yoga.... which we obtained successfully!

But it isn't all borrowing. Even smaller libraries such as Stanhope and Monmouth (Wilberforce) are able to lend a surprising number of books. In fact some very special and unique titles turn up in some of the smallest libraries.

Locating the books is only half the battle. The other half is making sure that they get to our libraries and to you and then back to the lending library in a timely fashion. To do this, OLS-Trent has a fleet of five vans, three operating out of Richmond Hill, one out of Barrie and one from Peterborough. Libraries not on delivery routes get first class courier service via priority post.

"And what," you may ask, "does all of this cost the Haliburton County Public Library?" The answer is "not one red cent" because this service is provided through OLS-Trent which is itself funded by the Provincial Government. It is a part of the government's commitment to making good library service available to people living in the smallest and most remote parts of Ontario.

By the way, did you know that 85% of our operating budget comes from the provincial government?

Do you need a book, an article from a magazine or some general information?

Try the Haliburton County Public Library. If it isn't on our shelves, we'll tap into the OLS-Trent network and just watch us go from there.

Perhaps the Haliburton County Public Library looks rather small to you. But with ten branches, we know how to make waves and we are really a lot bigger than you think. Give us an opportunity to show you how big we really are...with a little help from our friends.

from the chamber

by Shawn Hagerman

People in business are constantly aware of the importance of promoting Haliburton County as a tourism destination area. However, I do think that from time to time, myself and the other people in the business community, overlook those who quietly and diligently toil away improving the quality of our life and environment in the Highlands. Here I am speaking of the municipal employees, teachers, policemen, hydro workers and other ministry and municipal employees who are always there when you need them.

This spring, as I was preparing for bed, I glanced out of my bedroom window and spied some activity at my neighbour's cottage some distance away. I knew for certain that they were not up on this particular weekend, yet there, late at night, was a large truck sitting in their driveway, with people scuffling about with flashlights.

With their cottage being some 6 or 7 hundred feet off, one could not just casually stroll by to find out what is going on.

The speed with which they were moving about my neighbour's yard indicated that some foul play might be afoot, and my house lights didn't seem to deter them at all. They did not enter the cottage, but seemed to be moving about the garage in which my neighbour kept his boat.

I felt I should do something, so I called the police. After patiently listening to my suspicions, I was assured that a squad car would be along shortly to investigate.

Sure enough, about 15 or 20 minutes later, I could see the headlights of the car approach down the township road. By the time the cruiser had reached the end of my driveway, the phone rang. It was a constable on duty who had just received word that the hydro crew was at the foot of my driveway repairing a damaged transformer.

To those who stand on guard for thee, I thank you. Maybe some day I will really need you, until then, keep up the good work, your service to this community is always appreciated.

Hints for 'latchkey' children

It is estimated that one third of children age 6 to 13 begin or end their school day without a parent or guardian at home. Most "latchkey kids" as they have been nicknamed, are left alone for only two or three hours but that can be enough time to face some real difficulties. This is why the Canada Safety Council has chosen "Latchkey Logic" as the theme for this year's School Safety Week campaign, held from October 17-23. The campaign emphasizes that children should know how to deal with emergencies that might arise while parents are away.

Here are some tips from the Canada Safety Council to improve the safety of latchkey children:

- Write out all emergency telephone numbers (i.e. police, fire, doctor, poison control centre, ambulance), plus parents' work numbers, a neighbour who is at home during the day, and instructions on how emergency services can reach the home. Keep this information by the telephone. Since children learn best by "doing", provide opportunities for them to practice placing emergency calls with the phone unplugged.

- For incoming calls, children should keep their answers short and never advertise that they are staying alone. Answer with something like, "My father is taking a nap. Can I take a message?" or "I'm sorry, my mother can't come to the phone right now. Can I have her return your call?"

- If the doorbell rings, instruct children to look out a window or peephole where they will not be seen by the caller. If the child doesn't recognize the person at the door, he should not answer it.

- Instruct children to call you when they arrive home. They should also call if they have a sudden change of plan that will bring them home later than usual.

- Encourage children to stick with a buddy on their way to and from school, or errands or at play.

- Point out the places children can go for help if they are approached by a stranger or get into some other difficulty on their way home from school, e.g. a Block Parent home, a neighbour's or a store.

- Child proof your home. Lock up poisonous products (e.g. cleaning supplies, pesticides, medicines) and store them in their original containers - never in food or beverage containers where they may be ingested by mistake. Look for loose mats, trailing cords and other tripping hazards; falls are the leading cause of home accidents. Clear out fire hazards such as rubbish in the attic or basement, frayed electrical cords or oily rags and keep lighters and matches out of children's reach. Place furniture so it does not block exits or obstruct normal traffic patterns. Keep ammunition and unloaded guns locked up separately. Involve your children in the home hazard hunt.

- Review with children all the emergency escape routes and alternate escape routes in your home. Children should know which situations require them to leave the home immediately before calling for help i.e. fire or gas leak.

- Set limitations. Generally, it is better to focus on what is permitted rather than what is not and to involve children in setting rules.

- Enroll children in a basic first aid course. The St. John Ambulance offers a short course for school-aged children called "Can We Help".

- Hire babysitters who have been certified from a recognized agency. The Canada Safety Council offers a comprehensive Babysitters' Training Course for youth 12 years and over which covers: rights and responsibilities, child development and behavioural problems, child care, nutrition, child safety, basic first aid, handling emergencies, care of sick children, games and play activities for children and babysitting children with special needs.

Society chooses contest winner

Tuesday evening, October 7, a good crowd was on hand to witness the weigh-in of the pumpkin contest sponsored by the Minden and District Horticultural Society.

Congratulations to all who entered.

Later in the court room, members were treated to a showing of excellent pictures by Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Barry. Dennis is the son of Mrs. Pearl Barry of Minden.

The Barry's have spent considerable time travelling in the Arctic regions of Canada. Outstanding scenery of fast flowing northern rivers, muskeg, gorges, plains and hills were much enjoyed.

Excellent pictures of birds, Arctic flowers, animals and fish portrayed wildlife in the far north. Oh yes, and they do have blackflies and mosquitoes by the thousands.

A truly pleasant way to spend an evening in October!

'Knights' battle in modern, mechanized jousting match

The rules are straightforward. No more than ten cars in the ring at once and no foul play (such as hitting another driver's door or pushing a vehicle over the log ring boundaries). The winner is the last car running.

Who then would have expected such high drama from Minden's Demolition Derby last Saturday. Watched by a crowd of 1500 cheering fans, over a hundred drivers from across Ontario took part in the event, waiting in line for one of the ten heats and then bashing it out in the ring with nine other victory-minded drivers to see who could last the longest.

The winner of each heat went on to compete in the feature round, which took place at 5 p.m.

No one who came to the derby was let down. Spectators gasped as vehicles broke apart and the noise of ten thousand high quality crashes shook the ground. Dust filled the air and as cars flew together, bits of shattered bumper were thrown high above the ring, steam spurted from fractured engines, and the smell of burning metal wafted across the fairgrounds.

Like knights of old, the drivers, unflinching, took aim at one another from either end of the ring and, at the crucial moment, engaged their engines - angry salivating beasts - for the charge. Again and again combatants met and locked radiators at zero ground; again and again they retreated, limping and spilling vital fluids, until at last, all but one automobile lay against the logs, expired.

The action was fast and furious as contestants jockeyed for the $1000 purse in the annual Minden Kinsmen Club Demolition Derby. Held Saturday afternoon at the Minden Fair Ground, the event drew close to 1500 spectators and over 100 participants.

Surely Sir Lancelot and Saint George came to Minden on Saturday! Not on horseback and looking for dragons (an endangered species), but reincarnated for the afternoon as demolition drivers, drawn back to earth from their heavenly resting places for one last shot at honour in the Highlands' event.

The $1000 prize for the overall winner of the derby went to Minden's Dave Burgess. Alan Kennedy of Mount Albert came second, and third place went to Jim Grant, also of Mount Albert.

The powder puff - the women's derby - was won by Heather Johnson.

The first heat was won by Terry Brown of Minden, the second by Dave Burgess, the third by Fernando Carvalo of Barrie, fourth by Glen Kennedy, the fifth by Jim Grant, the sixth by Larry Robinson of Lindsay, the seventh by Wayne Haskins of Mount Albert, the eighth by Dave Snowdon of Oshawa, the ninth by Peter Gajdor and the tenth by Larry Gill of Tory Hill.

There were two special consolation rounds. The first was won by Andy Weller of Toronto and the second by Dave Snowdon of Oshawa.

A driver prepares his car for the annual Minden demolition derby held on the weekend at the fairgrounds.

Liberals plan strategy

Members of the Victoria-Haliburton Federal and Provincial Liberal Associations attended a campaign organization seminar in Peterborough last weekend. The program was put together by both the federal and provincial Liberal Parties in Ontario with the purpose of helping ridings to be well prepared for anticipated provincial and federal elections during the next two or three years.

Bruce Glass, the federal Liberal Candidate in 1984, summed up the meeting by stating: "There were people there from five area ridings who worked at finding smarter and better ways to organize and run election campaigns. Everyone picked up good tips for the future. Every election campaign is different as times change. We want to keep up with the times."

12 tips for safe hunting

Planning a hunting trip this fall? If so, the Ontario Provincial Police remind you that no hunting trip is a success if it isn't first a safe hunt. Here's the OPP's 12-point safety checklist:

1. Treat every gun as if it was loaded.
 2. Never shoot at a sound. See your target clearly first.
 3. Never point a gun at anything you don't intend to kill.
 4. Exercise muzzle control of the firearm by knowing where the gun is pointed at all times.
 5. Unload all guns when you return to camp.
 6. Never fire a gun which has a plugged barrel.
 7. Never carry a loaded gun in a vehicle.
 8. Never bring a loaded gun indoors.
 9. Unload the firearm before climbing fences, jumping ditches or walking through dense bush.
 10. Never fire at rocks or water as a ricochet bullet can go anywhere.
 11. Wear highly visible clothing and not camouflage outfits.
 12. Drinking and hunting don't mix. A hangover is a deadly form of impairment.
- Hunting can be a safe sport if you recognize and avoid the potential dangers.

Hunters, in pursuit of game, can become lost in the bush. Carry a compass and know how to use it. The OPP recommend that if a hunter discovers he is lost he should "hug a tree" and wait for searchers to find him.

Before leaving on a hunting trip tell someone where you are going and then go there. Numerous searches have been carried out for lost and overdue hunters who said they were going one place but went another.

All hunters should carry a basic first-aid kit and know the fundamentals of first-aid.

Water levels committee report

submitted

At the September 12, 1986 meeting of the Haliburton Highlands Water Management Advisory Committee, many items were covered and progress reported in a number of areas.

Parks Canada presented a film on "The Perfect Drowning Machine." This was a very dramatic picture of the dangers at weirs (low dams). It is available for showing at groups and cottage associations.

Special guest Christine Kowalyk of the Ministry of Natural Resources outlined the key points of the Canada/Ontario Flood Damage Reduction Program and how it is administered. A sub-committee of HHWMAC will meet with FDRP people by year end to learn more on how it may benefit the reservoir lakes area and waterway system.

Lee Gauthier of Kushog Lake was appointed a member of HHWMAC.

The committee agreed that a presentation be made to County Council by mid-November on the undertaking of a situation appraisal on conservation authorities.

R. McClure, policy officer of Natural Resources, advised in writing, that "arrangements have been made to include 'have regard for the reservoir lakes area' in the CORTS (Canada, Ontario, Rideau, Trent Severn) report for any initiatives and policies related to water management in the area of the Haliburton Highlands."

The Committee will be meeting with Parks Canada on November 21 to finalize the terms of reference for the undertaking of a review of the (T-S-W) operation by professional consultants. It is also planned to review MNR's guidelines to Parks Canada regarding alleviating the effects of water level drawdowns on the fishery, mainly lake trout, at that time.

In addition to the above, a 1986 Operations Review will be compiled. The 1984 report, management summary, will be reissued for the benefit of new members of County Council and as a refresher to others.

A number of other issues are being pursued by the committee, all related to the recommendations in the September 1984, report.

SNOW REMOVAL TENDERS are invited for Ontario Hydro (Minden) Service Centre 86/87 Season

Tenders will be received for the removal and disposal of snow from the service yard and parking lots on an as-required basis at Ontario Hydro's Minden Area Service Centre located on Hwy. 35, Minden and Minden T.S. on Hwy. 121 at Allsaw.

Roads and parking areas are to be cleared by 7 a.m. of accumulations of three (3) inches or more of snow or slush.

Tenders are to be submitted by 4:00 p.m. on October 24, 1986 on company letterhead. For further information and site inspection please contact:

Township considers maintenance

Stanhope Township should take over the four cemeteries within its boundaries, it was suggested at the October 8 Stanhope council meeting.

At present, the cemeteries are maintained by the churches, but because of high administration costs, some are in disrepair. The ground over a number of graves in one cemetery, council was told, has collapsed, and cemetery workers are having to add fill to the graves.

Council passed a resolution to give $75 to each township cemetery board.

It was suggested at a council meeting early in the summer that the township should take over its cemeteries.

HALIBURTON VILLAGE

457-2022

Robbie Reid was one of over 40 Cubs, Scouts and Beavers to take to the streets of Minden Friday and Saturday during the annual Apple Day fund raising effort. The local groups managed to sell some 14 bushels of McIntosh apples throughout the village. The Apple Day is one of only two public fund raising efforts undertaken by the organization.

Guild news

by Shirley Hodgson
Thanksgiving weekend has passed by so quickly. It seems we spend so much time getting ready and looking forward to being with our families and friends at Thanksgiving - then before we know it, those precious days have slipped away.
Be thankful that you and your family are in good health - as this is the most important thing, because without that, everything else is insignificant.
Remember the people who are less fortunate than you and do whatever you can possibly do to help them.
Now, I'd like to let you know that the very lucky winners of the trip to Portugal or the $1,500 draw - were Mr. and Mrs. Fred Seedhouse from Norland.

The 1986-87 Concert Series season will begin on Monday October 27 at 8 p.m. at the High School. The combined talents of mezzo soprano Michele Gaudreau and tenor Timothy Sherwood, will be welcomed.

There will be a workshop for 'Smocked Christmas Ornaments' held at the Gallery. On two separate afternoons Ellen Fyfe will teach participants to smock the beautiful Christmas balls for your tree.
Class one will cover basic smocking techniques needed to complete the ornament and class two will be the completion of the smocking and construction of the Christmas ball.
Price for the two days - including the materials will be $15. The workshop will be Tuesday, October 28 from 12 noon to 4 p.m. Please register before October 15 at the Rails' End Gallery.

The upcoming exhibition at the Gallery from October 18 until November 13 will be "Woven Tapestries" and "The Figure". The Woven Tapestries will be presented by some of the local weavers.

The weavers monthly meeting will take place on Monday October 20 at 7:30 p.m. at the Rails' End Gallery.

The knitters next meeting will be held at the home of Cecile McLeod on Tuesday November 4. For further information call Mimi Carson at 286-1218.

Seniors head for football playoffs

Once again the Haliburton Highlands Senior Redmen have moved a step closer to a spot in the football playoffs. On Thursday they beat the team from Fenelon Falls 15 to 0, making it the fifth game in a row that the defence have not let a touchdown through.
Conditions were good, and the first quarter passed with no points scored by either side. But in the second quarter Mike MacNaull ran 80 yards for a touchdown on a reverse play, with key blocks thrown by Jaro Cooper, Ron Perrin and Trevor Powers. The convert was kicked by Trevor Powers, making the score 7 to 0 for the Redmen.
There was no score in the third quarter but it was close when Haliburton blocked a field goal.
Late in the fourth quarter Mike MacNaull scored a second touchdown, this time on a 60 yard run. He kicked his own convert, making the score 14 to 0.
But the game was not over yet. With a minute left to go, Ron Perrin kicked a 45 yard single by punting the ball into the end zone, making the final score 15-0 for the Redmen.

Special mention goes to the offensive line of Dwain Cooper, Jamie Bruce, Derek Little, Craig Burke and Sean Whitfield.
Junior games
While it hasn't been a winning year for the Junior Redmen, coach John Fitzgerald is more than pleased with the individual efforts of the players and the team as a whole. "We've been up against some well-seasoned and experienced teams," he commented. "Most of our players are out for their first season. Despite some disappointing losses, the players are always ready to take to the field. They take one play at a time."
Two weeks ago the Juniors travelled to Lindsay to face LCVI. The team was defeated 23-0.

Last week they were hosted by Fenelon Falls, losing 41-7. The Redmen opened with a scoring flurry, but had trouble containing the larger, more experienced Fenelon team. By the half-time whistle the score was 27-7.
"It's difficult when you have a string of losses like we have," Fitzgerald commented, "but the players have matured and grown in the process. They're a fine group of athletes."
This week's game will be played in Haliburton against LCVI, the Seniors' at 1:30 and the Juniors at 3:30. If they are to ensure a spot in the playoffs, Haliburton must win.

Kickers win

Games against LCVI in Lindsay were played last Wednesday by both the Junior and Senior Haliburton Redmen soccer teams.
The Seniors won their games game 2 to 0 with John Vanderhorst scoring both goals.
Though they've improved with every game, the Junior Redmen lost to the Lindsay team 4 to 0. Haliburton played well but faced a bigger and more experienced team.

Neither the Junior nor Senior Redmen are in the running for the playoffs.
The last game of the season for both teams will be played on Wednesday in Fenelon Falls.

Settling in down under

Lori Saunders is an area high school student who is spending a year in Australia as part of the Rotary International exchange program. She is sponsored by the Rotary Club of Minden. Lori has agreed to share her experiences with our readers. The following is her first report covering her departure from Canada and settling in at her new home in Bunbury, near Perth.

G'Day Mates,

How are you? I'm fine. So far Australia has been great fun, however, there are a few bad exceptions, such as the cold weather, lack of sleep (only joking because two of my younger sisters are watching while I write this). Oh yeah, I don't particularly like the national snack 'Vegemite' (Yuck), but their peanut butter jar isn't lonely any more.

Everything else in Australia is Amazing!!! and Bloody Good Mates! I love my sisters and my parents are already treating me like part of the family. (Making pizzas at their shop on my second night.)

The trip over was great although we found it tiring and lonesome. Our section of the plane was silent for the first ten minutes after takeoff from Toronto, and after that we didn't shut up for the rest of the trip, except to eat. It was so strange to fly for five hours and land in Vancouver only two hours after leaving Toronto.

I spent my time at Vancouver (together with Jackie, another Rotary Exchange student) at the home of Mrs. Betty Done, my first and last Canadian host family. Jackie and I shared a room, but our beds weren't put to much use, because we were rarely there to sleep in them.

The first night all seven of us (all from District 701 and heading for Australia or New Zealand) went out to see the Skyline and covered miles and miles of Vancouver on foot.

The second day we met at the West gate at the EXPO grounds at 8:00 a.m. and explored all day. We didn't go into any pavilions that day, instead we bought a $10.00 pass and went on ALL the rides and I do mean ALL!

On Thursday (third day), we went pavilion hopping. The Canadian and Australian pavilions were the Tops (and I'm not being prejudiced either). In the Telecom pavilion they show Lake Kashagawigamog and they miss showing our beach by —much. They show Puffer's Island across from it though.

We tried all different types of meals such as British, Chinese, Italian and West Coast McDonalds.

Then we went to see the fireworks, but after waiting for two hours, they cancelled it and gave us a laser show instead.

Friday we all slept in, then our host Mom took us for a sight-seeing drive. We saw Stanley Park, University of Vancouver, the Island and the Pacific Ocean. Then it was time to go and pack for the next leg of our journey.

When we arrived at the airport, we met 28 kids from up and down the coast (as far as California) all of whom were flying to Australia and New Zealand. It was amazing! Just like an orientation, except this time we were on a plane. We talked a lot from Vancouver to Hawaii, talked a lot and slept a little from Hawaii to Sydney.

We arrived in Sydney late! and it took me an hour to get my luggage and clear customs. By that time I had 20 minutes to catch my plane and I had to change terminals, so I went outside to get a taxi. I walked around the car and got in on the passenger's side and — you guessed it — I got in on the driver's side instead. Seating the steering wheel in front of me I got out fast. The driver said "Oh you can drive if you really want to!"

I flew over to Perth all on my lonesome and arrived nervous and totally exhausted. My worries were over upon entering the airport. I was met by a welcoming party, five couples and my oldest 'sister' — everyone terrific.

Enroute from Perth to Bunbury (my home for the next year) we stopped for lunch — more like a midnight snack for me, all I wanted to do was sleep. Then we were home and I met the rest of my first family — Mom and Dad (Joe and Angele Haydar) run a pizza shop (my favourite food). I have a Taita (grandmother) and five sisters — Andree and Nicole are older than me and Claudia, Zena and Nadine are younger. I will be a part of their family until October.

Next day, (after sleeping till 11 o'clock) I was taken to the school to be shown my way around and to meet some of the people. The school is the size of a small college campus with a different building for every subject. It is open on the outside and the rooms all have a view of the ocean.

Wednesday night I went to the Rotary Club and did a presentation. I was a hit! They laughed where they were supposed to and they listened and even understood my funny accent. I can hardly wait until next time.

On the weekend, Andree took me to Donnybrook (a small town in the area) to see my first kangaroo, emu, ostrich, camel and Aussie bird (all wild). I got to feed and pet the 'roos, they are so adorable.

Monday I started school. Again, I was very nervous and all for nothing. I met many friends and I'm having fun and I don't have any homework (not yet anyway).

A week or so later during art class I was sketching outside, by myself, when I felt something watching me. There, about a foot to my left was a two and a half foot snake. I couldn't scream, but I got out of there fast. My teacher said it was poisonous and I should be careful in future. I hate snakes.

I will live with five different families during my year in Australia.

Hi Kids!!

Here is another puzzle for you with a word list. Look in the diagram of letters for the words given in the list. Find them by reading up, down, forward, backward and diagonally. They are all in a straight line and do not skip letters. Circle the words in the diagram and cross it off in the list.

It's as easy as that. Have fun!

Did you know?

by Jane Selbie

When the siren of an ambulance or fire truck breaks into our lives, the chill of wondering always follows.

We can prepare ourselves for an emergency in the best way possible with a little forethought.

Have handy by your phone, the numbers for the police, ambulance and fire. The central number for the police is Zenith 50000, but having your direct number to the local detachment can save valuable time. List your family doctor and local hospital. The poison control number is 1-800-268-9017. The Family Safety Network is 1-800-461-7656 or 457-3355.

We have a handy booklet put out by the Ministry of Health offering suggestions for emergencies such as choking, drowning, bleeding, burns and heart attack. If you would like to be ready for the unexpected pick one up at the Information Centre at the Drag River building in Haliburton. We are open 9-4 and have many booklets dealing with all sort of areas of every day matters that you may want to know more about.

Highlands featured in vacation guide

The Haliburton Highlands is one of only two Canadian locations featured in the tenth annual edition of the Snowmobile Magazine's Vacation Guide. The guide went on sale recently on newstands across North America.

The magazine copy provides a description of the amenities awaiting the snowmobiler in the Highlands, pointing out that the Haliburton County Snowmobile Association is one of the largest such organizations in the world with 550 kilometres of groomed trails.

The article notes that all the HCSA trails are colour coded making them easy to follow and that snowmobiles can be driven through downtown Minden "...where they leave the snow on the main streets."

The brief write-up is supported with a series of advertisements from resorts and services catering to the snowmobiling crowd. All of the advertisers are along the Highway 35 corridor.

The magazine features 37 suggested snowmobile locations in all. The only other Canadian spot is St. Donat in Quebec.

CARD OF THANKS

On behalf of our family, I wish to express sincere thanks to the attendants of the Minden Ambulance and Health Services for their prompt and capable attention to my husband, Ron Lester, after his recent accident. We, the residents of this area are indeed most fortunate to have such caring and efficient services available to us.

Ruth Lester, South Lake.

Members of the 1st Minden Boy Scouts wish to thank the merchants, residents and visitors of our community for their support during our recent 'Apple Day.' A special thanks to Ken Fielding and Dixie Lee for supplying a hot lunch for each of the boys. 10C
